Kaiser Health Tracking Poll: Election 2008

October 2008

Methodology

The Kaiser Health Tracking Poll: Election 2008 was designed and analyzed by public opinion researchers at the Kaiser Family Foundation led by Mollyann Brodie, Ph.D., including Claudia Deane and Carolina Gutiérrez. The survey was conducted September 8 through September 13, 2008, among a nationally representative random sample of 1,207 adults ages 18 and older, including 1,081 adults who say they are registered to vote. Of these registered voters, there are 321 self-identified Republicans, 397 self-identified Democrats, and 292 self-identified independents. Telephone interviews were carried out in English and Spanish by Princeton Survey Research Associates.

The margin of sampling error for the total sample is plus or minus 3 percentage points and for the sample of registered voters it is plus or minus 4 percentage points; for registered voters who self-identify as Republicans and Democrats it is plus or minus 6 percentage points, and for those who self-identify as independents it is plus or minus 7 percentage points. For results based on subgroups, the margin of sampling error is higher. Note that sampling error is only one of many potential sources of error in this or any other public opinion poll.

Values less than 0.5% are indicated by an asterisk (*).

“VOL” indicates that a response was volunteered by respondent, not an explicitly offered choice.

Due to rounding, percentages may not add to 100.
