Kaiser Health Tracking Poll: Election 2008

June 2008

Methodology

The Kaiser Health Tracking Poll: Election 2008 was designed and analyzed by public opinion researchers at the Kaiser Family Foundation led by Mollyann Brodie, Ph.D., including Elizabeth Hamel and Carolina Gutiérrez. The survey was conducted June 3 through June 8, 2008, among a nationally representative random sample of 1,206 adults ages 18 and older, including 1,066 adults who say they are registered to vote. Of these registered voters, there are 311 self-identified Republicans, 404 self-identified Democrats, and 277 self-identified independents. Telephone interviews were carried out in English and Spanish by Princeton Survey Research Associates.

The margin of sampling error for the total sample is plus or minus 3 percentage points, and for registered voters it is plus or minus 4 percentage points; for registered voters who self-identify as Democrats it is plus or minus 6 percentage points, and for those who self-identify as Republicans and independents it is plus or minus 7 percentage points. For results based on subgroups, the margin of sampling error is higher. Note that sampling error is only one of many potential sources of error in this or any other public opinion poll.

Values less than 0.5% are indicated by an asterisk (*).

“VOL” indicates that a response was volunteered by respondent, not an explicitly offered choice.

Due to rounding, percentages may not add to 100.
